

MDC 'S' Pony Classic Stirrup™

MDC Forward Facing Stirrups Provide Safety BEFORE the Fact

The main reason stirrups catch a falling rider's foot is due to the traditional stirrup's tendency to return flat against the horse's side. This turning back tendency causes the stirrup opening to get smaller and smaller and in some cases, catches the falling rider's foot, dragging the rider with the potential for serious injury or worse.

Forward Facing Stirrups' tendency is to stay open and give a falling rider more time to escape a twisting stirrup and lessen the risk of being caught and dragged.

MDC Stirrups are designed with more room for your boot between the tread and the top of the stirrup arch. This improvement provides more clearance area for your foot to be released during a fall.

Traditional Stirrups with Release Mechanisms Provide Safety AFTER the Fact

Breakaway Stirrups do not address the primary cause of being caught during a fall. In fact, for these products to work, you must be caught in your stirrup and dragged down the arena before they offer any aspect of safety. Wouldn't you rather have a stirrup that was safer in the first place?

Stirrups with smaller total area for the foot are less safe by definition.

Imagine this...

As you board an airplane, you are handed a parachute. The attendant tells you that if you are caught in the falling plane during a crash, the parachute will provide some safety.

THIS is Safety AFTER the Fact

Wouldn't it be better to have a better designed airplane?

THIS is Safety BEFORE the Fact.
